May 1 (Friday): Tech Neck Rescue (4 hrs. workshop, 09:00 – 13:00)

Tech Neck is a modern-day issue, spanning all generations, that’s not going away anytime soon. The necks muscles, tendons, and ligaments are meant to support the head’s weight – 10-12 pounds – in a neutral position balanced on top of the cervical spine. For every 1 inch the head falls forward it places an addition 10 pounds of force on the neck, sometimes up to 50-60 pounds when looking down at your phone! We’ll review general neck anatomy and focus on specific Pilates neck exercises including less known Cadillac exercises, Neck Stretcher, Pedi-pole, and overall posture in specific exercises where the neck typically shows up as an issue. The discussion looks from the perspective of a progressive continuum for all levels of neck strengthening on multiple apparatus.

May 1 (Friday): Liberate your Upper Powerhouse (4 hrs. workshop, 13:00 – 18:00)

Shoulder tension and a general stiff upper body is tricky to understand because so many body parts are involved and can mask the real issue. Where is the “real” issue and how do we address it? Related to “tech neck”, the entire upper torso is part of the big picture which involves bringing the upper torso into better alignment and balance to reduce pain and trigger points in the upper back. We’ll explore, then dissect and identify practical solutions in various body positions and on different apparatus, ending with the value of handstands and where they occur everywhere from the basic to advanced system.

May 2 (Saturday): Lost Art of Sitting, Standing + Squatting (8 hrs. workshop, 09:00 – 18:00)

Sitting is the new smoking and another modern-day reality of office jobs, long commutes, and long drives. It’s time to consider how we sit (and stand) so we do it better and reduce suffering from chronic low back pain, hip issues, and negative effects of muscle imbalances. Healthy mobility in the low back, hips, knees, and ankles are the promises of Pilates (done right) with Pilates squats being an important antidote that we will breakdown and better understand. We will certainly dive into sitting, standing and squatting positions in the Pilates repertoire on various apparatus in addition to how to take it out into daily life.

May 3 (Sunday): Mobility vs. Stability: Where’s the Balance? (6 hrs. workshop, 09:00 – 16:00)

Flexibility is a good thing but how much might be harmful or unsafe? Stability is a good thing but how much is enough? What does that look like in different body parts and what’s the difference between to two? What about bodies that are over tight everywhere or only in certain places? A healthy balance is our goal. Actually, there’s more to consider here... Joe Pilates called it “suppling” the body and it involves understanding where a body is on the spectrum of tight, mobile, stable, and the ability to actually move. We will explore metrics that measure and assess joint specific progress for clients to see their improvement over time.
